Chris is living proof that if you truly believe in something, set your sights on your goal - no matter how big - work hard at it, stay focused and never give up, you can achieve anything. In Chris's world, there is no such things as 'can't' or 'impossible' only I'M Possible. He has simply deleted the words from his vocabulary.

The Mavericks Big Wave Story tells the tale of how a regular working guy from South Africa manages to get halfway around the globe to win the prestigious Mavericks Competition, the world's premiere high adrenaline big wave surfing event, overcoming the seemingly impossible obstacles along the way and against all odds.

This is a story filled with insights about overcoming obstacles, the power of the mind, embracing change, determination, never giving up, and tackling the "impossible".

“ You were everything we could have asked for and more! The standing ovation was well deserved & the response was overwhelming. ”

A lot of people think of superheroes as having superpowers like flying or superhuman strength. But not all superheroes have extraordinary powers, and many are human just like us. Everyone that's done something extraordinary has had extraordinary traits, they've become good at what they've done, and worked hard until they became exceptional. There is a superhero and superpowers that lie dormant waiting in all of us, our gift to the world.

In this workshop, Chris will dive deep into helping you unlock your superpowers, finding your passion and achieving your goals to make a true lasting impact. You'll walk through identifying your passions and big ideas, having the courage and belief to take action and start, creating a timeline and plan to accomplish your targets, and having the mindset and discipline to get you there.

After participating in this workshop you will realize what's really possible if you can tap into your greatest potential!

“ Chris's dedication to empowering people to achieve their wildest dreams by sharing his journey is enlightening ”
